Lecture 6: Neural Networks and Backpropagation

Heading: Neural Networks
Artificial Neural Networks stack layers of parameterized linear transformations followed by non-linear activation functions (ReLU, Sigmoid). Training deep neural networks uses the backpropagation algorithm, applying the calculus chain rule backwards from the loss function to calculate gradients for gradient descent.